Model 227-HP

ICU Bed Series

The Model 227-HP ICU bed is the latest offering in our product range that provides the versatility and ease-of-use that are vital in today's patient care environment. It's four sections are designed to give correct, comfortable postural support to the patient's body at all angles.

This model is specifically designed to be partially C-Arm capable. The unique Y shape of the bed eases access of C-arms for imaging of patient's chest.

The Model 227-HP-02 bed includes height adjustment by means of a hydraulic linear actuator. Height adjustment is obtained by operating pedals placed at both sides of the bed. The adjustment is effortless and quiet, adding comfort for both, the patient and nursing staff. Each of the four sections are made of high quality fibre glass panels for x-ray translucency.

The permanently flat seat section assists in patient comfort and, in junction with the knee break, reduces shear by preventing the patient from slipping down the bed.

All structural parts are protected by a durable epoxy powder coating which compared to normal spray paints, significantly reduces the number of chips and scratches, adding years to the life of the bed

Head-end and foot-end adjustment are achieved through gas spring assisted handles at each side of the bed. Fowler and semi fowler positions are easily obtained by this system.

The dual gas spring assisted tilt system has four points of support to give complete stability at any height or degree of tilt. The system is smooth and easy to operate.
